November's Meeting - November 12

November's meeting is a blend of critique and presentation. "Travels" Please send 3-4 images and can include dialogue, to discuss and share a travel destination(s), even if it was local. Please email to jlafrat@gmail.com by Monday, November 11th by noon.

NOVEMBER QUESTION:

“How do you stay focused on your photography?”

R. Taylor Cullar

Answer: I don't stay focused on photography. I have other interests, so I use my cell phone to take pictures as I encounter interesting subjects. I use my "point and shoot" camera in a similar way when I travel. I spend a few minutes here and there between other activities for recording and preparing my photos for shows and calendars. In other words, my focus on photography is on again and off again.

Norma Woodward

I can stay focused when taking the photos; however, I don't always edit promptly. When I need a completed image for some purpose, it's a rush. I download to the computer promptly but delay editing until necessary.

Because I exhibit at Brush Strokes Gallery in Fredericksburg and also Crossroads Art Center in Richmond, images are needed for rotating exhibits at each.

Other interests such as travel, gardening, painting, friends and family visits and more, frequently have my focus.

VMFA, Richmond: (One ticket will enable visitors to see these two unique exhibitions.)

First major exhibition of Southern Photography in more than 25 years “A Log Arc: Photography and the American South since 1845”. October 5 to January 26, 2025.

“American, born Hungary: Kertesz, Capa, and the Hungarian American Photographic Legacy”.

“Photography has no rules, it is not a sport. It is the result which counts, no matter how it is achieved.”

– Bill Brandt
